KILLAH CAM

CLUB & EVENT DJ · NEW YORK CITY

200+ EVENTS A YEAR

Camille Olivier, known as Killah Cam, has been one of New York's most in-demand DJs for over a decade. At a nightclub or private event, no genre or era is out of reach. In a single night, he can take a room from Biggie to Bad Bunny and from ABBA to Afrobeats.

Born in Manhattan and raised in New Jersey, he started on cello at five and studied at Juilliard Pre-College through his teens. He switched to drums, took lessons from Travis Barker, and played the entire 2009 Warped Tour with TV/TV. That background shows in every mix — a cellist's ear and a drummer's cadence.

Itching to go solo, he took up DJing in 2012 and went full-time in 2016. He combines technique with instinct: smooth transitions, well-timed scratches, and surprise classics at exactly the right moment. Dance floors stay full, and the venues notice. So do the people throwing the parties: Sarah Jessica Parker, Pete Davidson, Simon Huck, and Ari Melber have all hired him personally. Even other DJs come weekly to watch him work. No wonder he now holds 16 residencies and plays 200+ events a year.
